NEWS FROM THE OFFICE OF ALUMNI RELATIONS

Loyola Law School congratulates Suzanne Zeimis on her retirement in October. Zeimis had a full portfolio of responsibilities, from maintaining the alumni records to managing the alumni Web page. Best wishes, Suzanne!

The Office of Alumni Relations welcomes Ursula Byrne as its new alumni relations assistant—she joins the team to manage the alumni database and Web page. An experienced hand at Loyola Law School, Byrne joined the School in 1996, working for the Offices of Admissions and Career Services. Welcome Ursula!

Loyola Law welcomes Kira Poplowski, who joins the School as its director of communications, a newly created position. Poplowski is developing and implementing a comprehensive communications plan for Loyola, focusing on creating a unified message that advances the School via its publications, Web site and media outreach. She comes to us from USC, and has a PhD in international relations.

IN OTHER NEWS...

The inaugural Bringham-Kanner Property Rights Conference (held November 2004 and sponsored by the William & Mary School of Law) and the Bringham-Kanner Prize are named in part for Gideon Kanner, Loyola Law professor emeritus and of counsel at Manatt Phelps & Phillips LLP. The conference and prize are co-named after Kanner in recognition of his lifetime contributions to the constitutional protection of private property rights and his efforts to preserve the dignity of an individual's civil right to private property ownership.

Loyola Law School Kicks Off $40 Million Endowment Campaign

GALA CELEBRATION SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 2005.

Loyola Law, under the leadership of David W. Burcham '84, Fritz B. Burns dean and professor of law, launches its $40 million endowment campaign with a donor appreciation gala celebration on April 16, 2005.

The funds raised will be used to create five endowed chairs and establish a robust scholarship fund to attract and retain top faculty and students. Dean Burcham noted, "A substantial challenge lies before us. Our goals for the $40 million endowment campaign are clear and worthy. Loyola Law excels in all it does, and I am convinced it can excel at an even wider array of efforts. I hope all alumni will help make this effort a success."

Victor Gold, associate dean for academic affairs, professor of law and William M. Rains fellow, adds, "Our upcoming endowment campaign will focus on people instead of buildings. Our physical facilities are stellar, but what they house matters more. We need greater resources to attract and retain top faculty and students—that's what this campaign is all about."

Burcham concludes, "There is a simple formula for the success of the Law School—the stronger our faculty, the stronger our national reputation. As our national reputation improves, so do our students, who in turn get better jobs. The Loyola Law School diploma on your wall appreciates in value like the sound investment it always was."

FOR MORE INFORMATION about Loyola Law's endowment campaign, please see the insert included in the 2005 Loyola Lawyer. To receive a copy or make a donation, please contact the assistant dean of advancement, Ken Ott, at 213.736.1025 or ken.ott@lls.edu.

MORE DETAILS TO FOLLOW.

PLEASE NOTE: THE ANNUAL GRAND REUNION WILL BE HELD IN FALL 2005.

their son Conor Ronan, born on August 10, 2004. The couple recently opened their firm Childs & Childs, which specializes in family law, real estate law and civil litigation. Kristopher Diulio '03 and his wife, Christiana, celebrate the birth of their first child, Anthony, born June 21, 2004. The family recently returned to California after Diulio's completion of a clerkship with the Hon. Christine O.C. Miller of the U.S. Court of Federal Claims.

IN MEMORIAM Steven M. Martin '49 passed away on September 24, 2004 in his Torrance home. Martin began his legal career at the firm of Schell & Delamer in Los Angeles, and in 1959 formed his own firm, the Law Offices of Steven M. Martin, which eventually became Martin & Swamp, APC, where he practiced for 40 years. He played hockey for the Los Angeles Monarchs and was an avid fan of the Los Angeles Kings and Notre Dame football. Samuel W. Gordon '71 died after a sudden illness at the age of 57, on March 3, 2004. A longtime resident of Santa Monica, Gordon's career focused on business and commercial litigation. He had many long-term clients with whom he was affiliated until his death. Gordon is survived by his wife Harriet, and children Stephanie and Jeff Gordon. He also leaves a brother, Hiram Gordon, as well as many other loving relatives. Judith A. Williams '74 died recently from illness. She was employed by the National Labor Relations Board, and was an attorney at the University of Southern California and UCLA for many years. Ernest E. Sanchez '58 died on November 1, 2004. Services were held for Sanchez, who is also a graduate of Loyola Marymount University, at St. Andrews Church in Pasadena. Sanchez is survived by his wife Barbara; children Rose, Teresa, Raquel and Delia; grandchildren Michael, Trinidad, James and Marisa; and sisters Margaret Jorgensen and Sr. Caroline Sanchez. Edmond B. Mamer '60, a 34-year veteran of the California State Attorney General's Office, died of heart failure on October 20th in Fullerton, Calif. He was 71. Mamer handled cases for the state's insurance commissioner and tax agencies. In addition to the law, Mamer also loved thoroughbred horses and became a horse-owner after retirement.

Gerald Rosen, Loyola Law School professor and dean from 1981-82, died at the age of 92. Rosen passed away in Belgium, where he was living with his wife. Rosen's relationship with Loyola was long and fruitful. He joined the faculty in 1971, and was the obvious choice for dean when Dean Theodore Bruinsma resigned. During Rosen's tenure as dean, the Loyola of Los Angeles Entertainment Law Review was established and Loyola began requiring that all students enroll in a lawyering skills course that is still in existence today, called Ethics, Counseling and Negotiation.

Lost touch with a classmate?

Do we have your current address? Do we know your area of practice? Have you lost touch with a classmate? You can now verify and update your contact and employment information, review your giving history and access the Loyola Law School alumni online directory by visiting LAWnet.

The alumni office is pleased to reintroduce LAWnet, a user friendly and password-protected Web-based service available exclusively to Loyola Law alumni. Please contact the alumni office at alumni.office@lls.edu if you did not receive, or forgot, your password.

There are several components to LAWnet. "My Account" provides a summary of your contact and employment information. You can update/edit information in this section, including your areas of practice, whether you are sole practitioner and the mailing address at which you would like to receive information from the Law School. This section can ONLY be viewed by the Office of Alumni Relations and you.

To select the information you would like classmates to be able to view, click "My Preferences." Alumni are encouraged to display employment information and areas of practice—this information will allow fellow alums to communicate, network and provide referral opportunities through the alumni online directory.

Another component of LAWnet is "My Giving," which provides a current overview of your history of giving to Loyola Law. Also, online giving is now available. Through LAWnet, you can select from a number of giving options and donate securely and confidentially.

Perhaps the most useful component is the "Directory." The success of the directory, however, depends on alumni participation—the directory is a great resource and convenient tool to locate fellow alumni by name, class year, area of practice or geographic location.

Be sure to stay connected with your alma mater and with the alumni community. Visit <http://alumni.lls.edu> today!
